

MEDIA ALERT: VarVision Fall '98

For Press Appointments and Information, Contact:

Jessica Youra, Bravo! Marketing

Ph: (415) 777-0800 x109, email: jessica@bravomarketing.com

ANYWARE TECHNOLOGY TO INTRODUCE NEW CHANNEL PARTNER PROGRAM DURING VARVISION 1998

Company Creates VAR Program for Its EverLink™ Suite Remote Access and Security Software

CITY OF INDUSTRY, CALIFORNIA (Sept 16, 1998) ... Anyware Technology, the company that introduced the concept of a personal Virtual Private Network, plans to announce a new channel partner program at the upcoming VarVision event at The Century Plaza Hotel and Tower in Century City, Calif., from September 23-26, 1998. Anyware Technology will make formal presentations to select VARS and systems integrators, and will be discussing:

- EverLink™ Suite of Remote Access & Security Software

EverLink Suite is a peer-to-peer, secure, cross-platform communications and remote access solution. The Java™-based application provides organizations with private and secure electronic mail, file transfers and instant messaging over the Internet, and uniquely limits authorized individual user access to designated areas of information behind the corporate firewall.

- Channel Partner Program

Anyware Technology's EverLink Suite software provides the technology for VARS to help their customers achieve greater productivity, privacy, cost savings and a global competitive advantage. The new Channel Partner Program makes it easy for VARS to partner with Anyware Technology to provide a total solution for remote access and network security issues.

"The timing of VarVision is excellent, because it ties in very well with the launch of our Channel Partner Program," explained Jonathan Page, director of channel sales for Anyware Technology. "We have a unique product in the EverLink Suite, and we want to offer VARS the opportunity to help bring this product to the marketplace. Our Channel Partner Program provides VARS with an attractive opportunity to increase their revenue and customer base."

Anyware Technology product managers and executives will be on hand at VarVision to discuss this exciting new security product, channel partner opportunities, and issues and trends in remote access and security.

For additional media information, or to set up an interview with an Anyware Technology expert, contact Jessica Youra, 415/777-0800, jessica@bravomarketing.com.

About Anyware Technology, Inc.

Anyware Technology is pioneering the development of integrated, cross-platform, enterprise software products that address the remote access and network security issues facing organizations. The company is headquartered in the City of Industry, California, and can be reached at (888) 383-7178 or (626) 839-6890, email: marketing@anywaretechnology.com, or on the Internet at www.anywaretechnology.com.

EverLink and Anyware Technology are trademarks of Anyware Technology, Inc. All other trademarks or registered trademarks are the property of their respective holders.